SCME124 Ymateb gan: | Response from: Andy Brown

I Andy Brown object to the proposed senydd increase as it is in no way affordable for Wales.

With the current deficits it would increase our ongoing debt levels and therefore affect every Welsh resident going forward.

There are already representatives from across all of Wales and those individuals need to represent their electorate in a fair and responsible manner going forward which we all know is not how it currently works.

Members of the senydd need to do the job as elected and remember they are accountable for their actions.

I do however believe that the term of appointment and election does need to be reduced or alternative rules put in place for when a member fails to represent the electorate fairly they can be removed from post.

I am sending this as an individual.

Regards

Andy Brown
