Building Safety (Wales) Bill

[AS AMENDED AT STAGE 2]

An Act of Senedd Cymru to make provision relating to the safety of people in or about buildings containing two or more residential units and of people in or about certain houses in multiple occupation.

5 Having been passed by Senedd Cymru and having received the assent of His Majesty, it is enacted as follows:

PART 1

SAFETY OF BUILDINGS CONTAINING TWO OR MORE RESIDENTIAL UNITS

CHAPTER 1

OVERVIEW

10 1 Overview of Part

- (1) This section gives an overview of this Part.
- (2) This Part makes provision in relation to the safety of buildings containing two or more residential units, which are referred to as “regulated buildings” and divided into 3 categories. It does so mainly by placing duties on the accountable persons, or the principal accountable person, for a regulated building.
15
- (3) In this Part—
 - (a) some duties apply to all regulated buildings, some apply only to category 1 buildings and category 2 buildings, and others apply only to category 1 buildings;
 - (b) some duties apply only when a regulated building is “occupied” (meaning that there are residents of more than one residential unit in the building).
20
- (4) Chapter 2 sets out the meanings of some key terms used in this Act. In particular, it makes provision about—
 - (a) the meaning of references to regulated buildings, residential units and the 3 categories of regulated building;
 - (b) how to identify an accountable person, and the principal accountable person, for a regulated building.
25
- (5) Chapter 3 provides for the registration of category 1 buildings and category 2 buildings by building safety authorities.
- (6) Chapter 4 provides for the assessment and management of safety risks in relation to occupied regulated buildings. It does so by—
30
 - (a) placing duties on principal accountable persons to assess fire safety risks, and on accountable persons to manage those risks, which apply to all regulated buildings;

- (b) placing duties on accountable persons to assess and manage structural safety risks, which apply only to category 1 buildings and category 2 buildings.
- (7) Chapter 5 provides for duties that apply only to occupied category 1 buildings and are imposed mainly on the principal accountable persons for those buildings. They include duties relating to the preparation of reports, the recording and reporting of building safety issues, and strategies for involving residents in building safety decisions.
- (8) Chapter 6 provides for duties for accountable persons to keep and share information relating to regulated buildings, and for accountable persons and building safety authorities to deal with complaints relating to building safety issues. It imposes duties, or enables them to be imposed, in relation to all regulated buildings.
- (9) Chapter 7 places duties relating to fire safety on adult residents and owners of residential units in occupied regulated buildings. It also places duties relating to structural safety on those persons if the building is a category 1 building or a category 2 building. It provides for enforcement of the duties, and access to residential units, by accountable persons.
- (10) Chapter 8 provides for certain decisions of a building safety authority to be subject to review by the authority and appeal to a residential property tribunal.
- (11) Chapter 9 contains supplementary provisions, including provision requiring accountable persons to co-operate and co-ordinate with other persons, and provision for terms relating to compliance with duties under this Act to be implied into certain leases.
- (12) Further provision for the enforcement of duties under this Act can be found in Part 3.

CHAPTER 2

KEY TERMS

Regulated buildings, residential units and categories of building

2 Meaning of “regulated building”

- (1) In this Act “regulated building” means a building that –
- (a) contains at least 2 residential units, and
 - (b) is wholly or mainly in Wales.
- (2) But the meaning of “regulated building” does not include a building of a description set out in Schedule 1.
- (3) In this Chapter –
- (a) sections 3 and 4 make provision about the meaning of “building” for the purposes of this section;
 - (b) section 5 makes provision about the meaning of “residential unit”;
 - (c) section 6 divides regulated buildings into 3 categories;
 - (d) section 7 provides for ancillary areas to be included in references to a regulated building or to a regulated building of a particular category.

3 Meaning of “building”

- (1) This section sets out the meaning of “building” for the purposes of section 2.
- (2) In the case of a structure that is not attached to another structure (an “unattached structure”), that structure is a building.
- 5 (3) In the case of structures that are attached to each other, those structures and any constructions attaching them (together a “set of structures”) are a building.
- (4) But subsections (2) and (3) are subject to subsection (5).
- (5) If an unattached structure or set of structures contains any independent parts, each independent part is a building (see section 4).
- 10 (6) In this section “structure” means a roofed construction with walls (whether or not the construction includes parts that do not have a roof or walls).

4 Meaning of “independent part”

- (1) A part of an unattached structure or set of structures is an independent part of the structure or set if –
 - 15 (a) it does not have access to any other part of the structure or set, and
 - (b) it constitutes a vertical division of the structure or set (see also subsection (5) in the case of an unattached structure).
- (2) A part of an unattached structure or set of structures constitutes a vertical division of the structure or set if –
 - 20 (a) the structure or set is divided by the part, and
 - (b) the division is along a vertical plane.
- (3) In deciding whether a part (“part A”) of an unattached structure or set of structures constitutes a vertical division of the structure or set, any other part of the structure or set that –
 - 25 (a) is a part to which part A does not have access,
 - (b) is a non-residential part, and
 - (c) would otherwise prevent part A from constituting a vertical division of the structure or set,is to be treated as if it did not prevent part A from constituting a vertical division of the structure or set.
 - 30 (4) A part of an unattached structure or set of structures is a non-residential part if it contains none of the following –
 - (a) a residential unit or part of a residential unit;
 - (b) an area, or part of an area, provided for the use, benefit or enjoyment of residents of residential units in the structure or set.
 - 35 (5) In the case of a part of an unattached structure that –
 - (a) meets the criterion in subsection (1)(a), and

(b) would meet the criterion in subsection (1)(b), were it not that the part cannot divide the structure for the reason that the part constitutes the whole width of the structure, the part is an independent part.

5 (6) The Welsh Ministers may by regulations provide that, in circumstances specified in the regulations, a part of an unattached structure or set of structures is an independent part, despite the part not meeting the criteria for being an independent part (as set out in this section).

10 (7) In this section, “access” means a doorway, archway or similar opening but does not include a doorway, archway or similar opening intended for exceptional use (including emergency use) or use for the purposes of maintenance.

5 Meaning of “residential unit”

(1) This section sets out the meaning of “residential unit” for the purposes of this Act.

(2) A residential unit is –

(a) a dwelling;

15 (b) a house in multiple occupation (but see subsection (3));

(c) a unit of living accommodation that is not, and is not contained in, a dwelling or house in multiple occupation.

(3) Where a house in multiple occupation that meets the converted building test in section 254 of the 2004 Act contains –

20 (a) one or more self-contained flats (within the meaning given by that section), and

(b) one or more other units of living accommodation, each self-contained flat is a separate residential unit and the other living accommodation is one residential unit.

(4) In this section –

25 (a) “house in multiple occupation” has the meaning given by sections 254 to 259 of the 2004 Act, as those sections have effect for the purposes of Part 1 of that Act (that is, without the exclusions contained in Schedule 14 to that Act), but does not include a converted block of flats to which section 257 of that Act applies;

30 (b) references to a house in multiple occupation include unoccupied HMO accommodation (within the meaning given by section 1(5) of the 2004 Act).

(5) The Welsh Ministers may by regulations make further provision for the purposes of this section.

(6) The regulations may in particular –

35 (a) provide that the meaning of residential unit does not include a building, or part of a building, of a description specified in the regulations (whether by reference to how it is used or intended to be used, or any other matter);

(b) make provision about the meaning of “unit of living accommodation”;

(c) make provision about how residential units are to be counted (which may include provision that in circumstances specified in the regulations –

(i) a given number of dwellings, houses in multiple occupation or units of living accommodation is to be counted as a different number of residential units;

(ii) subsection (3) is to apply subject to exceptions or modifications).

(7) Before making regulations under subsection (5), the Welsh Ministers must consult –

(a) each building safety authority,

(b) each fire safety authority, and

(c) such other persons as they consider appropriate.

(8) In this section –

“the 2004 Act” (“Deddf 2004”) means the Housing Act 2004 (c. 34);

“dwelling” (“annedd”) means a building, or part of a building, that is occupied as a separate dwelling or intended to be occupied as a separate dwelling.

6 Categories of regulated building

(1) Regulated buildings are divided into 3 categories for the purposes of this Act.

(2) A regulated building is a category 1 building if it –

(a) is at least 18 metres in height, or

(b) has at least 7 storeys.

(3) A regulated building is a category 2 building if it –

(a) is less than 18 metres in height and has fewer than 7 storeys, and

(b) is at least 11 metres in height or has at least 5 storeys.

(4) A regulated building is a category 3 building if it –

(a) is less than 11 metres in height, and

(b) has fewer than 5 storeys.

(5) The Welsh Ministers may by regulations make further provision for the purposes of this section.

(6) The regulations may in particular –

(a) make provision about how the height or number of storeys of a regulated building is to be determined, which may include requiring that account be taken of parts of a structure or set of structures of which the building forms part;

(b) define “storey”;

(c) provide that a regulated building of a description specified in the regulations that would otherwise fall into a category set out in this section falls into a different category.

7 Inclusion of ancillary areas in references to regulated buildings

- (1) This section makes provision about the meaning of references in the remaining provisions of this Act to a regulated building (including references to a category 1 building, a category 2 building or a category 3 building).
- (2) Such a reference is a reference to the building together with any room, outbuilding, garage, car park, yard, garden or other area (an “ancillary area”) that is provided for the use, benefit or enjoyment of residents of the building.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2) an ancillary area is provided for the use, benefit or enjoyment of residents of a building whether or not –
- (a) it may be used, benefited from or enjoyed by other persons;
 - (b) it is provided for the exclusive use, benefit or enjoyment of the residents of a particular residential unit or units in the building.

Accountable persons, principal accountable persons and common parts

8 Meaning of “accountable person”

- (1) This section sets out the meaning of “accountable person” for a regulated building for the purposes of this Act.
- (2) An accountable person for a building is –
- (a) a person who holds a legal estate in possession in the common parts of the building or any part of them, unless subsection (3) applies, or
 - (b) a person who does not hold a legal estate in any part of the building but who is under a relevant repairing obligation in relation to the common parts of the building or any part of them.

This subsection is subject to subsection (6) (special rule for commonhold land).

- (3) A person (“the estate owner”) who holds a legal estate in possession in the common parts of a building or any part of them (“the relevant common parts”) is not an accountable person for the building by virtue of subsection (2)(a) if –
- (a) each long lease under which the estate owner is landlord provides that a particular person, who does not hold a legal estate in any part of the building, is under a relevant repairing obligation in relation to all of the relevant common parts, or
 - (b) all repairing obligations relating to the relevant common parts which would otherwise be obligations of the estate owner are functions of an RTM company.
- (4) Subsection (5) applies if –
- (a) a tenant under a lease holds a legal estate in possession in the common parts of a building or any part of them (“the relevant common parts”), and
 - (b) a landlord under the lease is under a relevant repairing obligation in relation to any of the relevant common parts.

- (5) For the purposes of this section and section 9 (meaning of “principal accountable person”) –
- (a) the legal estate in possession in so much of the relevant common parts as are within subsection (4)(b) is treated as held by the landlord (instead of the tenant), and
 - (b) if (and so far as) the landlord’s actual legal estate in those common parts is held under a lease, the legal estate in possession mentioned in paragraph (a) is treated as held under that lease (and, accordingly, subsection (4) and this subsection may apply in relation to it).
- (6) If a building is on commonhold land, the commonhold association is the accountable person for the building.

9 Meaning of “principal accountable person”

- (1) This section sets out the meaning of “principal accountable person” for a regulated building for the purposes of this Act.
- (2) The “principal accountable person” for a building with one accountable person is that accountable person.
- (3) The “principal accountable person” for a building with more than one accountable person is the accountable person who –
- (a) holds a legal estate in possession in the external structure of the building, or
 - (b) is within section 8(2)(b) because of a relevant repairing obligation in relation to the external structure of the building.
- (4) In subsection (3) (and section 10(1)(b)), “the external structure” of a building means its foundations, external walls and roof except –
- (a) any part of the foundations, external walls or roof included in a demise of a residential unit (including a part of the building that would be a residential unit but for regulations made under section 5(6)(a));
 - (b) the foundations, external walls or roof of any part of the building to be occupied for the purposes of a business or undertaking (whether for profit or not).
- (5) Subsection (3) is subject to sections 10 and 11 (determination by building safety authority or residential property tribunal).

10 Principal accountable person: determination by building safety authority

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if –
- (a) a regulated building has more than one accountable person that falls within section 9(3), and
 - (b) different accountable persons fall within section 9(3) in respect of different parts of the external structure.
- (2) The persons mentioned in subsection (1)(b) may jointly apply to the building safety authority for the building for a determination as to which one of the persons is the principal accountable person for the building.
- (3) The Welsh Ministers may by regulations make provision about –
- (a) how an application under subsection (2) must be made;

- (b) the form and content of an application;
- (c) the documents (if any) that must be included with an application;
- (d) when an application may be made;
- (e) the withdrawal of applications;
- (f) the determination of applications (including circumstances in which an authority may decide not to make a determination).

(4) Subsection (2) does not apply if, as regards the regulated building, an application to a residential property tribunal under section 11(1)(b) –

- (a) has been finally determined, or
- (b) has been made but not finally determined or withdrawn.

11 Determinations by residential property tribunal

(1) An interested person may apply to a residential property tribunal for a determination, as regards a regulated building, of any of the following –

- (a) the person or persons who are accountable persons for the building;
- (b) the person who is the principal accountable person for the building;
- (c) the part of the building for which any accountable person for the building is responsible (see section 16).

(2) If, on an application under subsection (1)(b), it appears to the tribunal that there is more than one accountable person within section 9(3), the principal accountable person is such one of those accountable persons as the tribunal considers appropriate.

(3) In this section “interested person” means –

- (a) the building safety authority for the building,
- (b) a person who holds a legal estate in the common parts of the building or any part of them (or who claims to hold such an estate), or
- (c) a person who is under a relevant repairing obligation in relation to the common parts of the building or any part of them (or who claims to be under such an obligation).

(4) Any person may apply to a residential property tribunal for a determination, as regards a regulated building, that –

- (a) the person is not an accountable person for the building, or
- (b) the person is not the principal accountable person for the building.

12 Application of sections 9 and 11 in cases of joint ownership etc.

(1) Subsection (2) applies where, in relation to a regulated building –

- (a) two or more persons fall within section 8(2)(a) because they jointly hold a legal estate in possession in the same part of the common parts of the building (or all of the common parts);
- (b) two or more persons fall within section 8(2)(b) because –

- (i) they are jointly subject to a requirement under a lease to repair or maintain the same part of the common parts of the building (or all of the common parts), or
- (ii) they are jointly subject to a requirement by virtue of an enactment to repair or maintain the same part of the common parts of the building (or all of the common parts).
- (2) Persons that fall within subsection (1)(a) or (1)(b)(i) or (1)(b)(ii) are to be treated as one accountable person for the purposes of –
- (a) section 9(2) and (3) (meaning of principal accountable person);
- (b) a determination under section 11(1)(c) (part of the building for which any accountable person is responsible).

13 Meaning of “common parts”

- (1) This section sets out the meaning of “common parts” in relation to a regulated building for the purposes of this Act.
- (2) “Common parts” means –
- (a) the structure and exterior of the building except –
- (i) any part of the structure and exterior included in a demise of a residential unit (including a part of the building that would be a residential unit but for regulations made under section 5(6)(a));
- (ii) the structure and exterior of any part of the building to be occupied for the purposes of a business or undertaking (whether for profit or not);
- (b) any other part of the building that –
- (i) is not a part of the structure and exterior of the building, and
- (ii) is provided for the use, benefit or enjoyment of the residents of more than one residential unit (whether or not it may be used, benefited from or enjoyed by other persons).
- (3) The Welsh Ministers may by regulations provide that, in specified circumstances, a part of the structure and exterior of a building forms part of the common parts of the building despite falling within subsection (2)(a)(i).
- (4) In this section, the “structure and exterior” of a building includes –
