

P-05-965 Push the government into introducing a separate ward other than maternity ward, for families going through a miscarriage, Correspondence – Petitioner to Committee, 30.11.20

I have gone through the papers and my wife along with other women that did not get any thing other than what was said to us and if that is the case they have admitted to failing is this is not good enough there is no separate ward or waiting room I don't care what they say happens I only care about what IS happening and what is a bereavement midwife we never had any contact from any one or even have explained what was about to happen and what is this we could have had a burial.
